The main objective of this program was to create an interactive and student-friendly learning environment, where peers could learn from each other in a more relatable and comfortable manner. The sessions covered important topics in Accounting, Business communication, Marketing, Human Resource Management, and Statistics, with a focus on conceptual clarity, exam preparation, and doubt resolution.

Senior students who excelled academically were selected as peer mentors. They voluntarily conducted classes during free periods and after regular college hours. These sessions not only benefited the junior students but also helped the senior mentors improve their communication, leadership, and teaching skills.
