OBJECTIVE:

To enhance and sharpen my skills and gain valuable expertise by lying hands on tough and complicated responsibilities with extreme dedication, devotion and determination.

Industrial training:

- ✓ I did my industrial training from TATA STEEL FARIDABAD in which I have find the market share of the cold rod steel in the give area (Gurgaon). What are the reasons if there are any ups and downs? I did market research in TATA STEEL.
- ✓ I have collected all the information by using questionnaires from customer.

PROJECTS:

- ✓ INVENTORY MANAGEMENT SYSTEM: I did my project report in inventory management system in our country. In which I have studied what are the benefits of the inventory management system in the developing country like India. I just wanted to study our inventory management system and understand the diversified function of this legend body, every inventory management system in every country might be help in the development of the nation.

- ✓ To analysed the strategic significance of 1 paisa/second billing for Indian telecom services providers and how it is haunting the Indian telecom sector.
- ✓ Consumer perception towards Tata Nano: As we all know NANO is the cheapest car in the world. There were so many rumours regarding NANO's model, price, fuel-efficiency and comfort sitting arrangement and all things which are important. But actually things were different which I have observed under project study. Well after this study I have found that NANO has no single competitors in the market because NANO has different segment itself. NANO have totally different consumer and different market segment there is no issues for worry. It was very interesting thing. I had totally enjoyed the whole project.
